Theme:	Follow the checklist. It works.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Overall Performance: Live account +$3,070 across 9 trades. Nine consecutive wins. Zero losses. 100% win rate. The live account is now cumulative positive at +$1,925 after recovering from the -$1,145 deficit that triggered the pause. Shadow account +$1,175 across 3 trades (all wins). Combined: +$4,245.

This is the most important period in the entire trading journey. Not because of the P&L; — +$3,070 is modest — but because of what it proves. After pausing live trading on May 20, going back to basics, stripping out the IC modifications, and committing to the checklist, the system produced nine clean wins in a row. The checklist works. The strategy works. The discipline is holding.

Key Findings:

- 9/9 wins on live. Zero losses since return from pause. The longest winning streak on live money.
- Back to basics: Pure BPS and BCS only. No ICs, no modifications, no experiments on live.
- 8 of 9 trades above the $0.60 minimum credit floor. The one trade below ($0.50, #179) still won but was flagged.
- TRADE 184 — THE BREAKTHROUGH: 2SD time-adjusted breach triggered exit. Endowment test applied. The freeze response DID NOT FIRE. First documented live instance of correct exit discipline under pressure.
- Trade 185 flagged as oversized (10 lots = 38% net liq, 2x the 20% ceiling). Profitable but correctly tagged as ERROR. Outcome bias warning noted.
- Trades 186-187: Bear call spreads on BEARISH 4.5/5 signal. 94% and 92% capture. Market weather indicator driving trade selection.
- Live account cumulative: +$1,925 (recovered from -$1,145).

TRADE 184: THE FREEZE RESPONSE DID NOT FIRE

Detail	Value
Position	SPX 7535/7515 Bull Put Spread, 6 contracts
Entry	$0.70 credit
What Happened	SPX dropped to ~7560, approximately 24 points from short strike
2SD Time-Adjusted Band	Inside the band with session remaining
Endowment Test	"Would I enter this trade now? Hell no." — EXIT.
Exit	$0.65 (7% capture, +$30)
What Happened After	Market bounced 2-3 points inside band AFTER exit
Outcome Bias Check	Exit was correct on information available at the time. The subsequent bounce is irrelevant.
The Key Fact	THE FREEZE RESPONSE DID NOT FIRE.

Why This Matters More Than Any P&L; Number:

The freeze response — holding a losing position through a bounce rather than closing — has been the single most costly behavioural pattern across the entire trading journey. GLW cost ~$800 extra. SNDK cost ~$5,100 extra. It was identified as the #1 issue in the Account 1 Week 5 report. Every report since has tracked it.

Trade 184 is the first documented live instance where the exit discipline fired correctly under pressure. SPX was approaching the short strike. The 2SD time-adjusted breach triggered. The endowment test was applied: "Would I enter this trade now?" The answer was no. The position was closed. The freeze did not happen.

The +$30 P&L; is almost irrelevant. What matters is that the system worked under the exact conditions that previously caused catastrophic losses. The behavioural pattern that destroyed Accounts 1 and 2 was overridden by the framework. That is progress you cannot buy.

TRADE 185: PROFITABLE RULE BREACH

10 lots on a $20 wide spread = $20,000 max width, ~$19,300 max loss = 38% of net liquidation. The 20% high-conviction ceiling was breached by nearly 2x. The trade was profitable (+$550, 79% capture) and the early close at $0.15 rather than holding to expiry was correct risk management. But as the journal correctly notes: this was a WIN on a RULE BREAK. Guard against outcome bias letting a profitable oversize reinforce oversizing behaviour.

The context matters: VIX was falling (-2.62% to 15.64), the position was 72 points OTM (~4 SD), and the Iran situation was being legislatively capped by the House war-powers vote. The conviction was genuine. But the rule exists because conviction felt genuine on every blown trade too. 10 lots stays flagged as ERROR. The right size at that conviction would have been 6 lots.

TRADES 186-187: MARKET WEATHER IN ACTION

Thursday June 5. VIX surged 18.96% to 18.32. SPX futures down 1.68%. Nasdaq -3.28%. The market weather indicator signalled BEARISH 4.5/5. Two bear call spreads were placed:

- #186: SPX 7600/7620 BCS, 5 lots, $0.80 credit. Closed at $0.05 for 94% capture (+$375).
- #187: SPX 7545/7565 BCS, 5 lots, $0.60 credit. Closed at $0.05 for 92% capture (+$275).

Combined +$650 on a clear directional day. The weather indicator selected the correct side (bear calls, not bull puts), the premium was sufficient ($0.60-$0.80), and the capture rates were the highest of the period. This is the same pattern as Trade 121 from Account 3 Week 2 (BEARISH 4.5/5, 83% capture). When the signal is clear and the checklist passes, the results follow.

FRAMEWORK COMPLIANCE

Rule	Status	Notes
R1: 50% profit limit	Flexible	Most trades expired or closed 79-100%. Appropriate.
R2: 2SD time-adjusted exit	TESTED ✓	Trade 184. First live test. Passed.
R6: 20% buying power reserve	BREACHED	Trade 185. 38% net liq. Flagged as ERROR.
R18: Min credit 20% of width	PASS	All trades above threshold.
R19: No binary catalysts	PASS	No binary events during trading sessions.
R20: 3pm ET exit (relaxed)	Adapted	Trade 183 held past 3pm with 8SD clearance. Sound judgement.
R21: Min credit floor $0.60	MOSTLY	8 of 9 trades above floor. Trade 179 at $0.50 flagged.
R22: Verify position flat	PASS	No ghost trades or unintended positions.
R23: Unplanned entries = close	N/A	No unplanned entries this period.
R24: Regime review on shift	PASS	Trade 183 intraday flip from BCS to BPS on tape change.

One breach (R6 on trade 185), one minor flag (R21 on trade 179). Everything else: clean compliance across all rules tested. This is the second consecutive reporting period with near-100% framework compliance. The first (Account 3 Week 1) produced 9/9 wins. This one produced 9/9 wins. The pattern is clear.

WHAT CHANGED SINCE THE PAUSE

Before Pause (May 18-20)	After Pause (May 27-Jun 5)
IC modifications on the fly	Pure BPS/BCS only. No ICs on live.
Strategy alterations mid-session	No modifications. Checklist or no trade.
7 trades in 3 days, 29% win rate	9 trades in 8 days, 100% win rate
Thin premium entries (<$0.60)	8 of 9 trades above $0.60 floor
-$1,825 in 3 days	+$3,070 in 8 days
Freeze response untested on live	Freeze response defeated (Trade 184)

SHADOW ACCOUNT (+$1,175)

#	Date	Type	Strikes	Cts	P&L	Notes
S15	26/05	BPS	7470/7450	5	+$300	Confidence building. Expired.
S16	27/05	BCS	7545/7565	5	+$375	Confidence building. Expired.
S17	01/06	BPS	7515/7495	5	+$500	Wrong account (intended live). Better fill than live 182.

Shadow used this period for confidence building (S15-S16) before returning to live, plus one accidental wrong-account placement (S17). S17 is notable: same trade as live #182 but filled 18 minutes earlier at $1.00 vs $0.80 — $0.20/contract difference = $100 premium left on the table by entering later on live. Fill timing observation worth noting for future execution.

CONCLUSION

Follow the Checklist. It Works.

Nine consecutive wins. Zero losses. Live account from -$1,145 to +$1,925. The difference between the pre-pause period (29% win rate, -$1,825) and the post-pause period (100% win rate, +$3,070) is not luck, not market conditions, not a different strategy. It is the checklist being followed. Every trade. No exceptions. No modifications.

Trade 184 Is the Milestone. The freeze response — the single most destructive pattern in the entire journey — was tested on live money and defeated. SPX approached the short strike. The 2SD band was breached. The endowment test was applied. The position was closed. The market bounced after. The exit was still correct. Outcome bias was acknowledged and rejected. This is what 155 trades, three accounts, and five months of systematic development looks like when it finally comes together.

The Path Forward Is Clear. Pure BPS and BCS on SPX. Minimum $0.60 credit. 5-6 lot standard sizing. Market weather indicator for direction selection. 2SD time-adjusted exit discipline. No strategy modifications on live without paper validation. The system produces roughly $300-450 per trading day at current sizing. That's ~$1,500-2,250 per week. ~$75,000-112,000 annualised. On 5 lots. Scale comes later. The foundation is here.
